

2/2
30
(1/8)

Part I. Listen. Respond to each of the following with a complete sentence.

Ex. [Q: Do you have a computer in your dormitory room?]

A: No, I don't have a computer in my dormitory room.

1. A: I watched A Taxi driver in the Cinema at Seoul.

2. A: My best friend is taking exam now.

3. A: I don't like any Korean side dish.

4. A: I have eaten a blue cheese at France.

Part II. Find and correct the problems with format and informal English (NOT grammar) in the following paragraph. If you cannot fix an error here, explain below how you could fix it if you had time and tools.

3/4
(1/8)

Logan was released 7 months ago and it's the latest installment in the X-men series. After only a brief appearance in last year's X-Men: Apocalypse, Hugh Jackman returns to being the central character.

One thing that confused me was that the normally ageless and indestructible Wolverine character is both old and vulnerable, particularly in the CF. However, this matter is explained as the film progresses so it kinda makes sense.

Fix a shopping list shape. (Delete enter between two paragraph.)

Fix a font of word 'vulnerable'.

'CF' is unexplained acronym. The word 'kinda' change to formal word. how?

Part III. Fix the errors in the following sentences. Each has one of the errors for which the codes appear below.

2
(1/4)

c/p paa

inV

p/d

SF

Ex. It is very effective. ^bBecause it appeals to students on their level.

1. ^{In the} The first movie, Eric Bana played the part of Bruce Banner.

2. If a professor speaks too softly, it can be difficult to ^{listen his voice.} hear him.

3. Chris Evans ^{was} starred The First Avenger.

4. Jang Mi-ran ^{got a} won gold medal at the Olympics.

Part IV.

Answer the following in complete sentences.

4 (4)

1. The following passage has a topic and a focus but it is still not really an academic paragraph. Why? What is wrong with it?

The most obvious example is his love of acting. He has been acting since high school and these days he still participates in three or four community theatre productions per year. He is a very good singer but he joined a low-level choir because they give him more chances to do solos. He is a very good athlete but they only sport he plays now is soccer because he finds that only the soccer games have any spectators to cheer him on. For the last nine years he has been playing the saxophone. He likes the saxophone because he can play it for all types of audiences from rock to jazz to classical music lovers.

There is no topic sentence with central idea and no conclusion sentence for sum up the whole paragraph.

2. What is one criterion of being an academic paragraph that the above passage does satisfy?

A body of the paragraph has supporting sentences.

3. What are two things that the conclusion of a paragraph must not do?

- Finish a paragraph without summarizing.
- The conclusion of a paragraph must do not say about new idea that unexplained in a body of paragraph.

Part V. Complete the following as compound sentences using the conjunctions below. Do not use any one conjunction more than once.

6 (1/6)

and

but so because

Ex. Transformers was directed by Michael Bay but its stars were not so well-known before that film.

1. Koreans do not grow rice in mountainous areas because there are better areas for growing rice. 2

2. My sister is cycling to work right now and my mother is driving to work now. 2

3. Markets in Korea do not usually sell lentils so consumer should buy it from other countries. X

dc